The editor who can please everyone is not suited for this earth, but is entitled to wings. Dedication of New Grange Hall.

The dedication of the Paris Grange Hall took place, Tuesday, Jan. 13th, at 1-30 p. m.

The plans for the new Grange Hall were commenced the first of last April and it was decided to build a permanent home. The building is located on Maple street, and the land was purchased Leander S. Billings.

The building committee was composed of Harry D. Hammond, A. M. Ryerson, A. C. Maxim, Mrs. S. E. Jackson and Mrs. J. M. Millett. The architect was Philip H. Mason of South Paris, who had charge of the entire building.

The outside of the building is 38x80 feet with a large portico with double doors. On the first floor to the right is the gentlemen's toilet room, and the left side the gentlemen's coat room and the ticket window. While on the second landing are the cloak and toilet rooms for the ladies. The third landing is to be used as a rest room with a long seat beneath the prettily draped windows.

On the second landing is a large Memorial window of stained glass 6x8 feet. The middle section of the upper half is composed of the emblem of the order an open bible and clasped hands. On each side is a circle, one containing fruit and cut flowers.

The middle section of the lower half of the window is composed of a tablet containing the following names of charter members: Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Thayer, Wm. Swett, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O. King, Alexander Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Porter, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Thomas, S. M. King, Emmor Rawson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Across the lower part of the window is a tablet inscribed "to the memory of our Charter Members." The window is paid for by subscriptions separate from the building fund.

On the first floor is the dining room which occupies the middle of the building. Five long tables are placed on each side of the room which seat 20 persons. At the lower end of the dining room are four serving closets opening between the dining room and the kitchen, and beneath these closets is a long shelf.

The kitchen is commodious and well equipped. Two white enameled sinks are arranged so that several can work at both sides and a three tier table is placed in the center to put the dishes when washed.

The Committee appointed to select stoves were: Mrs. Chas. Kimball, Mrs. T. S. Grover, Mrs. Lovejoy and Mrs. B. F. Hicks, and have purchased two King Kineo Ranges.

On the second floor is the main hall with a space of 37 to 45 feet. The finish is in cypress and hard pine.

The stage scenery was painted by Wm. P. Morton of South Paris. There are three changes, namely: a parlor, kitchen and wood scene, also a front dropped curtain on which is a familiar scene of Stony Brook. On each side of the stage there are entrances with four spaces and at the rear of the stage is a stairway leading to the floor below.

Under the entire building is a cement wall and the basement will be used for storing apples. Two wood furnaces have been installed in the basement by Longley & Butts, who also did the plumbing.

The building cost in the vicinity of $8,000.00.

The exercises opened to the public and supper was served at 6-30 p. m., followed by a short program with remarks by C. S. Stetson, State Master, A. W. Walker, President of South Paris Board of Trade, Walter L. Gray, James S. Wright, Alton C. Wheeler, Wm. J. Wheeler and a reading by Mrs. Jno. Wood of Snows Falls and was followed by a social dance.

Mrs. Georgia Thayer, Pleasant St., South Paris, Me., says: "The public statement I made several years ago regarding Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. I am glad to confirm it. Weak Kidneys often the Result of Overwork.

On several occasions I have been unable to work and suffered severe pains in the back, due to my kidneys. I called on a doctor of Ripon, Wis. but received no relief.
I tried Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root which gave me instant relief. I was then able to resume work. Swamp-Root is the only relief I can get from kidney disease which I am subject to in the spring of the year. I am writing this testimonial through my own free will that sufferers of kidney and bladder diseases will know of the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root. I recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root whenever I can and always have a bottle of Swamp Root in my home.
I purchased Swamp-Root of Mr. C. J. Burnside, Druggist, of 202 Main Street, Ripon, Wis.
Very truly yours,
THOMAS J. LYNCH,
525 Newbury Srreet, Ripon, Wis.
I have read the above statement that Thomas J. Lynch bought Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root at my store and made oath the above statement is true in substance and fact.

Blame.

BY CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

To blame? Why of course, so we all are,
But it's a poor time to take when one's down,
And that you haven't chanced yet to fall far
Gives your no licouse to frown
And censure a fellow less lucky,
Who's quaffing his flagon of shame,
For you might have been no more plucky
Had you been hard driven the some.
So then, by the sins that you're hiding,
That give you that wavering glance,
Cease from your virtuous chiding
And give the poor wretch a new chance.
You surely will never regret it
To help give the lad a new deal,
Then wash the slate clean and forget it,
And see how much better you'll feel.

DEAR GIRLS AND BOYS:—My school has begun and my teacher's name is Leona Parlin. My mamma put the Christmas tree up for me. I gave my Mamma Kimball a little doll and she bopped right up and down, and I had pins, thimble, thread, dress, mittens and candy. I had some Christmas cards. I like my cat and chickens, and dove and mamma. My grandmother was a beautiful woman. A Happy New Year to you all. So goodbye,

OXFORD

Mrs. Sarah Ferry Wardwell.

Mrs. Sarah Perry Wardwell died Wednesday, Dec. 31, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry White, North Andover, Mass., following a brief illness of cerebral hemorrhage. She was a native of Moultonboro, N. H., where she was born 78 years ago, Nov. 10, but the greater part of her life was passed in Oxford.
Mrs. Wardwell enjoyed exceptional health up to a year ago when a weakness of the heart developed. She left her daughter, Mrs. Carrie E. Bumpus, with whom she had passed a year at the Morey Farm in Mechanic Falls, to go to North Andove, rlast August, and as time wore on she grew more feeble until a week before her death, when she took to her bed never to leave it. Her passing was peaceful, the transition being hardly perceptible to those who watched for the end.
She was the daughter of Rev. James Madison Hodgdon and Maria Stockbridge Bunker, and was one of a family of nine children. One sister and seven brothers have crossed the gulf, she being the last memder of her immediate family.
Her life from beginning to end was characterized by its unselfish devotion to the welfare of her children and grandchildren, who witnessed the approach of the end with deep regret, for the love she bore all those near and dear to her was reciprocated in the fullest measure and filled her declining years with a peacefulness such as all hope to enjoy as the sunset glow begins to fade and the shades of the long night creep silently nearer.
She became the wife of William F. Wardwell in Stoneham, Mass., and is survived by five children and nine grandchildren. Most of her earlier life was passed in Oxford where she has also visited for varying periods during her latter days.
There sre two sons, William L. Wardwell formerly of Oxford, now of Wolloston, Mass., Leander F. Wardwell of Oxford and three danghters, Mrs. Dora M. Hanscom of Reading, Mass., Mrs. L. Myrtilla White of North Andover, Mass., and Mrs. Carrie E. Bumpus of Mechanic Falls.
Rev. Putnam Webber pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church conducted the simple funeral services which took place on Friday afternoon, Jan. 2d, at the home of her daughter in North Andover, Mass. Many beautiful floral tokens s rrounded the bier and others were added from relatives when the body arrived in Oxford on Saturday, for burial in the afternoon beside the body of her brother, Leander F. Hodgdon, in the Congregational cemetery. Commitment services were conducted by the pastors of the Methodist and Congregational churches and old time friends and relatives performed the office of bearers.
Among the floral offerings were a basket from Mr. and Mrs. Leander F. Wardwell and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gordon Heslop of Oxford, and a spray from Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. and Stone of Portland.
Other tokens were a pillow of galax leaves, William L. Wardwell, Wolloston, Mass.; bouquet of calla lillies, Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, North Andover, Mass.; bouquet of pink roses, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bumpus, Mechanic Falls, wreath, Merle H. White, Haverhill, Mass.; spray of chrysanthemums' Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. McQueston, North Andover, Mass.; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hanscom, Reading, Mass.; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Greenwood, B. C.; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Bowser, New York city; mound from North Andover, Mass., neighbors; spray, Charles F. Hill, North Andover, Mass.; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Webster, North Andover, Mass.; spray, Mr. and Mrs. William Marsden, Lawrence, Mass.; pillow, Mrs. Augusta M. Hodgdon and family, Haverhill, Mass.; bouquet of pinks, Mrs. Mary Marshall, Reading, Mass., and bouquet of sweet peas, Miss Catherine Pierce, Haverhill, Mass.

Don't Use Second-Hand Potato Sacks.

Department of Agriculture Finds That Powdery Scab and Other Diseases May Be Carried in the Bags.

The Department of Agriculture have issued a special cantion to all American potato growers against the use of any second-hand British or European potato sacks unless such sacks have been thoroughly sterilized since they had contained or come in contact with foreign potato s.
The reason for this is that recent inspection have furnished ample evidence of the presence of a number of the most serious potato diseases among importations of that staple from Europe. These include the late blight disease, silver scurf, both dry and soft rots, common scab, and the powdery scab.
The germs of these diseases, the specialists find, may be and undoubtedly are carried in the sacks in which potatoes have been imported from Europe. The sacks therefore provide a source of infection to American grown potatoes packed in them.
It appears that there is a considerable trade in such second-hand foreign potato sacks between dealers located chiefly at the Atlantic ports of entry to the United States, and especially in New York, and potatoe growers of the Eastern States.
In some instances, entire shipments from the great potato districts of Maine to New York City have been made in foreign, second-hand sacks.
Even though none of the imported potatoes themselves were used for seed purposes, which is not the case, these diseases would none the less surely, but more insidiously, be introduced and spread through this traffic in second-hand potato sacks as now conducted.
Farmers should require dealers to guarantee that the sacks have been sterilized. Purchasers of seed potatoes should specify that the seed came in new sacks or sterilized second-hand sacks. Dealers can sterilize these sacks before offering them for sale by placing the empty sacks in tight containers in which live steam should be injected for about an hour. Purchasers of second-hand sacks can protect themselves by following the same procedure or by boiling them for two or three hours in any available vessel. Unless these precautions are taken the use of new sacks exclusively is recommended.

Castor Oil Is Tasteless Now

A Remarkable Step Forward in Oil Refining.

Pure, clear castor oil, without taste or smell, is a recent discovery of the house of Spencer Kellogg & Sons, refiners of vegetable oils.

The Kellogg mills take away the nauseating taste, but remove none of the good properties of castor oil.

As Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is merely a purified castor oil, it works better than the evil-tasting, evil-smelling dose of the past, and does not upsat the stomach. Children take it easily.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil has been supplied to all druggists, not in bulk, but in neat 25c and 50c bottles. It is necessary to ask for Kellogg's by name, to distinguish it from disguised castor oil, flavored with peppermint and other strong essences. The trademarked label bears a green castor leaf, with the signature, Kellogg's.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., refiners of vegetable oils. 3

ALBERT D. PARK, Register.

Oxford County Baptist History.

Old History Gives Account of Denominations in This Vicinity up to 70 Years ago Compiled by D. C. Clark.

Installment Fifth.

Mr. Millett's history gives very brief accounts of the Baptist ministers in Maine to 1843. From it the following are culled:

Bailey, Timothy—Ordained pastor of the church in Oxford, March 1843; resigned in 1844.

This is one of the few instances where the compilation of the history was extended to a later date than 1843.

Ball, Reuben—Pastor at Hartford in 1811, at Bridgton from 1812 to 1826; died at Greene in 1827.

Boardman, Samuel—Mentioned as a missionary; converted from Arminianism and Pedo, baptism in 1793; ordained at Livermore, 1802, held pastorates at Livermore, North Yarmouth and New Sharon, traveled extensively as an itinerant, father of missionary, George Dana Boardman.

Burnham, Levi—Ordained pastor at Harrison, June 1843; was devoting part of his time to work in other fields than Harrison.

Chase, Nathaniel—Was one of the original Baptists in Buckfield, licensed by the first church in that town about 1796, ordained its pastor in 1801, continued as pastor to 1835, when the feebleness of age compelled him to give up all except occasional ministerial work.

Chadbourn, John—Ordained evangelist at Corniah in 1798, pastor at Limington one year, 1802, and later labored in Penobscot county, dying at Dixmont in 1831.

Chadbourn, John 2d—Ordained at Shapleigh in 1818, had various pastorates in Maine and New Hampshire, including one at Elliam from 1835 to 1838.

The book does not indicate if the senior of these men was the John Chadbourne mentioned as a one-time pastor at Bethel. The Junior was ordained at least 20 years too late to have filled that position.

Chadbourn, Levi—Aided in building the church in Parsonsfield, held pastorates in York county and did much missionary work in the vicinity of his pastoral towns.

Chamberlain, Philip—Ordained evangelist at Hebron, 1831; became pastor at Jefferson, N. H., 1833.

Coy, Eliab—Located at Knox in 1832-1835, later at Hope Freedom, Gardiner, besides various work in other places; associate pastor at Hebron since 1839.

Cushman, Job—One of the fruits of Hebron church; ordained at Montville, 1807, and pastor there to 1820.

Davis, C. B.—Graduated from Newton Theological Institution, ordained pastor at Paris, 1838.

Dunham, Benjamin—Ordained pastor at Bethel, October, 1836; came from the church at Hebron.

Dunham, Ransom—Commenced labors at Hamlin's Gore, 1835, ordained pastor, 1836.

Foss, Walter—Licensed at Leeds, 1828; ordained evangelist at Leeds, 1830; worked over an extensive field including stays of considerable length with some churches.

Flagg, Samuel—Mentioned as a missionary; after several years as licensed preacher, was ordained pastor at Bristol and Muscongers Island, from which he retired in 1830 on account of the infirmities of age.

Haines, John—Ordained pastor at Swanville, 1804, held pastorates at Livermore, Vinalhaven, Livermore and Fayette, before locating at Norway in 1827; nine years later resigned and had since been actively engaged in domestic missionary work.

Hawes, Harvey—One of the fruits of the Hebron church; beginning in 1832, held pastorates at Fairfield, Hampden, St. Albans, Nobleboro, besides doing missionary work.

Hooper, James—Commenced ministry in Paris; ordained pastor 1795; was pastor to 1836, and senior pastor from then until his death in 1843.

Houghton, Josiah—Born in Waterford 1790; united with Congregational church at age of 17, became a Baptist, entered the ministry; held pastorates at Readfield, Newburyport, Mass., and Fayette, was two years agent for Maine Baptist Missionary Convention, then became pastor at Turner and died there in 1838.

Hutchinson, Daniel—His ministerial history is told in the story of the Hartford church, except that from 1842 he was working as an evangelist.

Hutchinson, Joseph, son of Daniel—licensed by Hartford church, ordained evangelist and became pastor of Second Livermore church, 1839; since 1840 "several churches had been blessed by his itinerant and stated ministry."

Kingsbury, Leonard—See story of Andover church. His name there is given as Kingsley.

Lawrence, Manasseh—See story of Hartford church; for a time gave part of his efforts to the Canton church.

Macomber, Thomas—Pastor at Sumner from 1804 till 1816, during which time he "traveled much as a missionary to the destitute;", pastor at Guilford from 1816 to 1835; later resided in Guilford and preached occasionally.

Mason, Daniel—Licensed at Fayette, 1811; ordained at Fayette, 1812; pastor at Freeport, 1813-1816; pastor at Bethel from 1818 to his death in 1835.

Mayhew, Nathan—Ordained pastor at East Dixfield, 1817, pastor till 1825, since which time he had ministered to destitute churches including part-time service for the East Dixfield church from 1837 to 1843.

Marshall, Walter—Licensed by the church in Hartford, preached there several years, and had since supplied destitute churches in eastern Maine.

Milner, Reuben—After itinerancy a short time under license, was ordained as pastor at Bluehill 1823, was pastor at Woolwich, Thomaston, Bowdoinham, Bridgton, Kennebunk and at Norway from 1838.

Nelson, Elias—Held pastorates at Monmouth, Livermore and Jay, besides doing missionary work; senior pastor at Jay after 1839; did extra work at Peru.

Ricker, George—Ordained pastor of second Buckfield church, 1805; about five years later he became pastor of the Minot (now Auburn) church, was senior pastor there in 1843.

Tripp, Shubael, son of John—Ordained at Newfield, 1824, was pastor there one year; pastor at Kennebunkport and Kennebunk from 1833 to his death in 1837.

Of the author of the history, the following sketch is given:

UPTON.

Mrs. Mary Ann Sanborn.

On New Year day the 88th anniversary of her birth, was laid to rest in Upton church yard, Mary Ann Sanborn Strickland.

Simple but impressive services were held by the Rev. James T. Berry in the church she had loved so long and where she was surrounded by beautiful flowers, roses and pinks and white lilies.

Mrs. Strickland was born in Boston and at an early age moved with her parents to Brentwood, N. H., where she remained until her marriage to Alpheus Strickland. Since then her home has been in Upton.

For several years, since the death of her son, Arthur, she has lived in the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Elsworth Lane, where everything has been done for her comfort and happiness that loving thought could suggest.

So closely has she obeyed natural and spiritual laws that she has never known physical illness, but during the winter has gradually failed in strength. She was confined to her bed but one day and her life went out as a tired child goes to rest.

At the age of 11 years she joined the Free Baptist church in Brentwood but was transferred to the Union church here and has always been a devoted attendant.

Mrs. Strickland was a woman of remarkable mental powers and strong Christian character. Her Bible was her constant companion and inspiration. In many hours of trouble her unswerving faith has always led her to believe that all things were for the best.

For her strong devotion to her family and unswerving loyalty to her friends she will be tenderly remembered.

She leaves to mourn her loss, three living children, Mrs. E. W. Edwards of Oxford, Mrs. Phebe Thomas of Upton and Mrs. Villa Flood of Newburg, N. Y., besides nine grandchildren and four grandchildren.

The sweet Gardiener hath borne her hence,
Nor must thou ask to take her thence away;
Thou shalt behold her, in some coming hour;
Full blossomed in his fields of cloudless day.

As tokens of love, affection and esteem, a profusion of beautiful flowers, emblamatic of the purity of her life, were presented by relatives:

Mr. and Mrs E. W. Edwards—Pillow, Mother
Mrs. Phebe Thomas—Wreath.
Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lane—Wreath.
Chas. C. Thompson—Roses, pinks and sweet peas.
Edith Thomas—Calla lilies and pinks.
By the Family—Chrysanthemums and pinks.

The Foster Orchards

At Newry

The Foster orchard at Newry on the farm of Walter A. Foster are worth much attention. In one of them is a fruit cellar.

The storage cellar was built especially to keep apples in after they were gathered from the trees in the fall. It is frostproof and can be kept at an even temperature just above freezing all winter.

The cellar will hold 1000 barrels of apples, and last winter the apples were held in this cellar until the first of March and then shipped to Liverpool, and when packed, the Baldwins were as hard and firm as when gathered in the fall.

The Foster farm of some over 4000 acres has an orchard of over 1000 grafted apple trees, from 15 to 30 years old.

The largest part of the trees are Baldwins, although there are some Ben Davis Spys, Snows and Nodheads.

The farm is owned and operated by W. A. Foster, with the help of his wife, and she has her share of the work to do, especially when there is a large crew of men gathering the fruit in the fall and packing it to be shipped away. They have three very smart young children, two girls and a boy.

This farm has always been in the Foster name. It was first settled by the present owner's grandfather and was the birthplace of Judge Enoch Foster, who recently died in Portland.

For the number of trees it has one of the best producing orchards in the county, bearing every year. This year it produced over 300 barrels of excellent fruit, which was mostly all sold at $3.00 per barrel, to go in cold storage in Boston. Last year and year before last there were nearly 900 barrels each year from it.

The highway runs through the center of this farm, and on the lowest side it is intervale land, where the hay is cut and the other farm crops are raised, and on the other side it is all upland, where orchards and pastures are. There is no hay cut in the orchards at all.

Mr. Foster always keeps 75 or more sheep and they are the blackfaced Shropshire breed; and these sheep have the run of all the orchards. He never has had any railroad worms in any of his fruit, and he says that it is due to the sheep eating up the windfalls, as that is where the railroad worms breed, and they cannot be killed by spraying.

All the manure that the sheep make in the winter is put around the trees every fall, and ashes are bought and put around them, and this is the only fertilizers used; but in the spring, as soon as the ground is dried out, the orchards are harrowed over a number of times until the first part of July, and then not cultivated again until the next spring.

The trees are mostly natural fruit, set out and then grafted in the limbs, and Mr. Foster says that is the best way to get a Baldwin orchard, as they do not winterkill and are twice as long-lived as root grafted trees. He goes over all the trees every spring and prunes out the sprouts and dead limbs, so that they will have an open top for the sun to get into and color the apples.

One of the most harmful features that the orchardist has to contend with is the blackrot that gets into the bark of the trees. It will start in a limb and go right around it. When on the small limbs, they want to be cut right out of the trees and if on the larger ones or on the side of the trunk, the black dead bark wants to be all cut and scraped clean and then washed with a solution of sulphite of copper, and that will stop its spreading and kill the disease. This disease can be carried from one tree to another on the pruning saw if it is not thoroughly cleaned after sawing out a limb with the disease on it.

The way that the markets are now in the cities and abroad, the orchardists in this state have got to raise good apples, and they will pay a profit any year, no matter how large a crop there is; but poor apples grown on trees that are never cared for will hardly ever pay for picking.—[Farmer.

There should be some suitable examination to determine moral, mental, physical and mechanical fitness before a license is issued, and every person driving a motor vehicle should have and wear a badge to show that he has a license.—[Maine Farmer.

How Animals Bear Pain.

One of the most pathetic things is the manner in which the animal kingdom endures suffering, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Take horses, for instance, in battle. After the first shock of a wound they make no sound. They bear the pain with a mute, wondering endurance, and if at night you hear a wild groan from the battlefield it comes from their loneliness, their loss of that human companionship which seems absolutely indispensable to the comfort of domesticated animals.

The dog will carry a broken leg for days wistfully but uncomplainingly.

The cat, stricken with stick or stone, or caught in some trap from which it gnaws its way to freedom, crawls to some secret place and bears in silence pain which we could not endure.

Sheep and cattle meet the thrust of the butcher's knife without a sound, and even poultry endure intense agony without complaint.

The dove shot unto death, flies to some far-off bough, and as it dies the silence is unbroken save the patter on the leaves of its own life-blood.

The wounded deer speeds to some thick brake, and in pitiful submission waits for death.

The eagle, struck in midair, fights to the last against the fatal summons. There is no moan or sound of pain, and the defiant look never fades from its eyes until the lids close over them never to uncover.

Are You One Of Those Who Habitually Catch Cold?

Investigation Shows That Certain Occupations and Professions Are Constantly Prolific Causes For Frequent Colds. What Can Be Done About It?

We read a lot of medical literature that only entertains, but does not instruct. In this strenuous period, when life is put to such a severe strain, we need light and facts how to prevent disease more than talk that entertains.

Do you know that the clerk and the shop girl, the merchant and the professional man, confined to sedentary work, are daily creating those conditions that conduce to colds?

Mental fatigue, worry, heavy strain, nervousness resulting from desk or store work are the easiest means for the development of colds. The average life of a clergyman is less than that of a farmer—cause, sedentary work.

Sedentary life, especially where it means the consumption of brain tissue, often leads to over-eating; there is no more common cause of colds than over-eating.

When the digestive organs are weighed down with an excess of food, the liver and kidneys and other important vital organs are overworked, vitality is lower and there is less resistance; slight exposure, which under ordinary conditions causes no harm, results in a bad cold.

To relieve a cold, a good expectorant or cough remedy such as PERUNA should be conveniently at hand to be taken at the very first attack of the cold. But what can be done to stop the frequency of colds to such people that are confined to sedentary work?

Start with a cold water towel bath, walk to your place of business, or devote an hour of each day to outdoor life, take a dose of PERUNA before each meal to tone up your system, eat moderately, retire early and sleep in a room full of fresh air.

Mr. L. A. Richardson, a substantial druggist from Marine, Illinois, commenting on the merits of proprietary medicines, writes as follows:

"I have been engaged in the retail drug business here for the past forty years. During this time I have seen many patent medicines come into use, flourish for one or two years and then gradually disappear. There are very few of these remedies that possess enough real merit to insure them long life. Peruna has always been a good seller with us, with a marked increase from year to year. The change in the formula some years ago, by the addition of the slightly laxative properties, has made it a reliable remedy for constipation and for colds. I take pleasure in urging my brother druggists to recommend it for these two ailments."

Those who wish to begin the cold water towel bath should have a copy of the Ills of Life. Sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

A Unique Celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings of Bolster's Mills celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on the 4th inst, in a very pleasing and unique manner.

Though the day was stormy, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings drove through the village distributing their photographs to their friends. The pictures were perfect likenesses and bore the dates 1864-1914 in gold letters. All greatly appreciate the kindness of this worthy couple in presenting such a remembrance. Two hundred of these photographs have been given away.

A reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Cummings at a meeting of Crooked River Grange on the preceding day. The occasion was the annual installation and there was a large attendance.

At the opening of the afternoon session Leslie McIntire of Waterford made a fitting speech and this was followed by a shower of congratulations for fifty years of wedded life.

Mr. Cummings and his wife were taken entirely by surprise and were greatly pleased to be thus honored.

Next day at church another surprise was in store for them, Rev. Wm. Laite, the pastor, after closing his sermon spoke of the rare event, a 50th anniversary and requested the audience to express their best wishes and congratulations by rising.

A third pleasing surprise was experienced when Mr. and Mrs. Cumming's daughter, Mrs. Edward Hicks of this place, invited her parents to call and a bounteous repast was waiting to be served, including a large wedding cake decorated in gold and bearing the dates, 1864-1914.

Mrs. Hicks had planned a family gathering, but the son, Frank Cummings of Harrison and his family were unable to be present, owing to the illness of their child.

Gifts of gold including a watch chain for Mr. Cummings, a pin for his wife were given by their children; also cuff links, a gold bar pin, money, pictures of friends framed in gold color; a silk waist and numerous other gifts were received from friends.

The tokens of remembrance most highly prized, however, are the numerous letters and cards from relatives and hosts of friends scattered all over the United States and even into Canada. Over a week these letters have been arriving by every post and the end is not yet for both Mr. and Mrs. Cummings, by their genial hospitality and lavish generosity as well as by their stirling worth, have made an unusually large circle of warm hearted friends.

Mr. Cummings is a native of Harrison and has passed all his life in that town. His wife is a native of Eliot, Maine. For many years they resided on a farm at "Maple Ridge" now owned by their son, Frank. When he left the farm Mr. Cummings bought the Dorman homestead in Bolster's Mills and had it remodeled, making a fine residence, a home fitting the wealth and taste of its owners.

Mr. Cummings has been honored by his town's people, having served repeatedly on the board of selectmen and as town agent. He represented his district in the Legislature of 1890-91. He is prominent in Grange Circles and a loyal supporter of the church, as is also his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings are wonderfully preserved and look and appear many years younger than the circumstances warrant.

Their friends bespeak for them many added years of happy life, even a celebration of their diamond wedding.

Fifty years of wedced life,
Of mingled joy and sorrow,
Fifty years to work and hope
Not knowing of the morrow.

Fifty years to give and take
Two fond heart's deepest love;
Fifty years of prayer and praise
To God in Heaven above.

Fifty years, a lengthened span,
By our heavenly Father given,
Fifty years to plan and toil
And live for Home and Heaven.

Grange Installation.

Crooked river grange held its installation service on Saturday week. The officers for the ensuing year were installed by Brother Charles Martin of Otisfield grange assisted by Brother D. M. Stuart and Sister Florence Stuart of the local order. The usual bounteous repast was served at noon by the sisters of the grange.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon session was a reception to Brother Geo. Cummings and wife, who the following day reached their fiftieth wedding anniversary. A fitting speech was made by Brother Lester McIntire of Waterford. The worthy couple were completely surprised at this part of the program and greatly appreciated this tribute from their many friends.

The numbers on the program follow:

Reading.....Josephine Caswell
Duet.....Florence and Helen Clark
Reading.....Ethel Jillson
Original poem.....
.....Sidney Kemp of Otisfield grange
Song.....Reba Blake
Question: Resolved that the elements of agriculture should form a part of the education of every farmer.....
.....Opened by Brother Fred L. Knight

Otisfield and Frederick Robie grange were invited and there was a large attendance.

Solomon Gay, wife and daughter Alice of Casco were at E. L. Gay's one day recently.

Mrs. A. W. Weston, who has been very ill is now recovering. Annie Smith of Otisfield is working for her.

The schools have begun under the continued instruction of Reba Blake of Portland in the grammar grade and Mildred Mills of this place, primary.

J. M. Frost of Auburn, District Superintendent, preached at the church on Friday evening and a business session was held. Rev. Mr. Laite, the pastor assisted in the services.

The Bates and Bridgton Academy students have returned, also the Paris and Norway students last week. The Norway school opened on Tuesday, a new departure and one greatly appreciated by those from a distance, who hope it will become a custom.

Geargе Cummings and wife observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary the fourth inst. by distributing their photographs to the people of the village. The pictures bore the dates 1864-1914 in gold. The pictures were perfect and we presume all their friends, like the writer, were delighted to be thus remembered. Mr. Cumming and wife are a wonderfully well preservad couple and both look and appear many years younger than they are. They are to be congratulated upon rounding out a half century of wedded bliss.
